

Dr Lester Leong is currently a senior consultant at the Department of Diagnostic Radiology, Singapore General Hospital.

His subspecialty interest is breast imaging and he underwent a fellowship in breast imaging under the auspices of the SingHealth's Human Resource Development Program Scholarship at the Brigham and Women's Hospital, Boston, Massachusetts, United States of America in 2010. He has special research interests in breast cancer screening, breast MRI imaging and ultrasound breast elastography.

He is the current chairperson of the Chapter of Diagnostic Radiology, College of Radiologists, Singapore and immediate past chairperson of the Breast Imaging Subsection of the Singapore Radiological Society.