

Dr Lim Geok Hoon is a Senior Consultant at Breast Department, KK Women's and Children's Hospital and Adjuvant Assistant Professor with Duke-NUS Medical School. She is passionate about oncoplastic breast surgery and believes that a good cosmetic breast result is as paramount as a safe oncological outcome. As a result, she has published mostly on oncoplastic techniques with a specific focus on the techniques most applicable to Asian women. She also has a special interest in genetic breast cancer which is why she pursued a year-long fellowship in the United Kingdom on breast cancer genetics and oncoplastic surgery. Of note, she founded the Singapore Breast Oncoplastic Surgery Symposium (SBOSS) in 2015 to increase regional awareness of oncoplastic breast surgery.
