

Sheng An Lim obtained his Degree in Medical Radiations (RT) with RMIT in 2014. He then went on to complete his honours in 2015. During his education journey, he underwent placements in London, Australia and Singapore. He is currently working as a Radiation Therapist in National Cancer Centre Singapore and his area of interest for research is in vivo dosimetry.